

Ms. Jasmeet Seehra
Desk Officer
Office of Management and Budget
OIRA Docket Library
Washington, DC 20503

Dear Ms. Seehra:

Enclosed is the Department of Agriculture's (USDA) November monthly progress report. USDA uses the government-wide milestones to track renovation, validation, and implementation of mission-critical systems undergoing repair.

The Office of Inspector General recommended department-wide adoption of the standard definition, which resulted in a significant reduction in our total number of mission-critical systems. Since the standard definition of "system" has been established department-wide, the Farm Service Agency reduced the number of systems by 20, the National Agricultural Statistics Service by 251, Departmental Administration by 11, and the Office of Communication by 1. As a result, USDA has reduced the number of mission critical systems to 362. As of October 31, 1998, 234 (65%) of our 362 mission-critical systems are compliant. Additionally, of the 270 systems undergoing repair, 256 (95%) have met the renovation milestone date and 210 (78%) have met the validation milestone.

If you have questions or concerns, please contact Dr. Gregory Parham, Executive Director, Year 2000 Program Office on (202) 690-0048 or via e-mail at gparham@usda.gov.

Sincerely,

Anne F. Thomson Reed
Chief Information Officer
